Azalea Meadow

Stewartia pseudocamellia
(Japanese stewartia)

Hamamelis virginiana
(common witch hazel)

Stewartia's muscled form and exfoliating bark gives it year-round interest!

This large, medicinal shrub adds soft yellow color to the landscape from October through December.

Ilex verticillata ‘Winter Gold’
(Winter Gold common winterberry)

Winterberry, in the Aquifoliaceae, adds bright color to the Arboretum.

Holly Slope

Ilex meserveae
(meserve holly)

The blue-green foliage is a common trait of this cold-hardy holly, a hybrid of I. aquifolium and I. rugosa.

Below the Wisteria Walk

Betula nigra
(river birch)

Check out the small grove of river birches that line the western shore of our wetland pond.

Orange Balustrade

Camellia oleifera
(tea oil camellia)

The tea oil camellia gives a pop of color to the Arboretum when little else is in bloom.
